

Prof. Dr. Babette Simon is former Managing Director and Regional Vice President Medtronic Germany, former Chief Medical Director and Chairwomen of the University Medical Center Mainz and was the President of the Carl von Ossietzky University Oldenburg. She is an extraordinary Professor at the Medical Faculty Marburg University and Professeur associé at the Faculty of Health, Université Paris Cité.

She has wide national and international experience across the research and health care system and her expertise is sought after in numerous committees. She is member of the University Council of the Technical University Dresden, the Strategic Council of the One Sustainable Health for All Foundation, the Scientific Advisory Board of the Hertie Network of Excellence in Clinical Neuroscience and chairs the Board of Trustees of the Ingrid zu Solms Foundation. She served as a member of the scientific commission of the German Council of Science and Humanities (WR), the Senate of the Helmholtz Association of German Research Centers, the Supervisory Boards of the University Hospital Düsseldorf and the TRON Translational Oncology Mainz gGmbH, the Council of the Institute for Information Technology (OFFIS), the University Council of the University of Applied Sciences Fulda, the Board of Governors of the Helmholtz Centre for Ocean Research GEOMAR, the Scientific Advisory Board of the Private Excellence Initiative Johanna Quandt Stiftung Charité, and chaired the shareholder meeting Hearing Aid System Technology and the Scientific Advisory Board of the Ludwig-Boltzmann-Society.

Babette Simon's initial training was in human medicine at Freiburg University and University Hospital Basel. She earned her MD from Freiburg University and later a Master's degree in Health Care Management from the University of Heidelberg/Mannheim. She completed her Research Fellowship in Molecular Biology at Mass. General Hospital, Harvard Medical School, Boston, USA with a focus on GI Oncology and was trained in Internal Medicine with a specialization in Gastroenterology at the University Hospital Marburg.